What is Reflux Pro?

As a homeopathic remedy, Reflux Pro combines classic homeopathic ingredients with biochemic tissue salts and formulated for the short-term relief of acute acid reflux, dyspepsia, belching and digestive discomfort after meals. Due to the homeopathic preparation, this product is safe for use in all ages, including during pregnancy, and may be safely combined with prescription medication.

Ingredients

All homeopathic ingredients below are monographed in the Homeopathic Pharmacopeia of the United States (HPUS).

Calc phos (6X)

One of the homeopathic tissue salts, Calc phos is strongly indicated for people who suffer from indigestion, digestive discomfort and heartburn after meals, often resulting in anxiety and insecurity around food and health.

Carbo veg (6C)

In common with herbalists, homeopaths often prescribe Carbo veg for digestive problems, including indigestion, sour belching and regurgitation of food.

Nat phos (6X)

Also one of the homeopathic tissue salts, Nat phos is one of the first choices for people who suffer from excess acidity, digestive discomfort (including a 'churning' stomach), belching and burning pain after eating.

Contains no animal products, gluten, artificial flavors, preservatives, colorants or alcohol. Suitable for vegetarians and safe for all ages.

Ingredients (continued)

Mag carb (6C)

Widely used as a commercial antacid, homeopathic potencies of Mag carb are indicated for conditions associated with digestive acidity and lactose intolerance as well as chronic fatigue and lethargy.

Silicea (6X)

Another homeopathic tissue salt, Silicea's key functions are as a cell cleanser and eliminator of toxins. It is well suited for people with multiple food intolerances, especially of fatty foods and dairy products, as well as chronic dyspepsia and acid reflux. Deficient assimilation of food also responds well to homeopathic Silicea.

Citricidal (grapefruit seed) extract (inactive ingredient)

For Optimum Results
